Hello all, thank you for tuning into the Truth Rebel Podcast. I am your host Kimberly Wright-Davis aka Da Host Senna S8nt, red eye beast or Halo Crown it depends who I am that day. Again, I thank you so very very much for joining me for our Minute talk sessions where listeners or myself ask questions, describe a situation to seek advice, openly go off raves and rants, present poetry, and whatever it is participants would like to share. The Truth Rebel Podcast does not turn down any topics at all, but I do ask that you consider others when you submit content about politics, religion, and sexuality. Please do not, I mean do not submit any sex, violence or spam recording, and that you keep your audio recordings under 10 mins, and your written material under 500 to 800 words. If you would like to submit your material you can email MP3 formatted audio ,PDFs, or a composed email to Podcast@theventhouse.com .

It is required for me to make those statements before I start the podcast just to provide my new listeners and those who may want to participate in one of my sessions with some information about the show and how to get on the show. Okay so, that's done, let's go ahead and begin. I received another question today, I will keep all of my participants anonymous for safety reasons. Only because these topics can be mind blowing, can create anger, frustration and provoke the total opposite, it depends on how a person interprets what is being said. Some of these questions, MP3 +recordings, and composed emails are sent in by low vibe individuals as well as woke indies so it is what it is. We all are adults but some topics can create triggers for some listeners and all I am saying is just be careful and keep the peace. There are many ways to comment to give advice to the submitter, you can give me a thumbs up , critique me, and or give more advice to others posting to the feed. I will later share those various ways after the session. Alright this question comes from Brenden in Boston, Massachusetts. Before I begin I like to get a little history about the specific topic just so that I can respond back in the best way. Brenden has been in a relationship with his girlfriend going on 6 years now. He stated that his girlfriend is changing and she is constantly being rude. His family is done with her and her family is still trying to keep them together. Brenden has been experiencing some weird things and just wanted to share some of the things going on in the relationship that he wants to vent about and ask that he receives immediate feedback.

Dear Senna

It's been 6 years now since me and my girlfriend have been dating. We started off great. There was no problem with communication. We laughed together, sang together, even shared the same fork and spoon if that's important to know. Yes we had a Brady Bunch relationship, until one day we met some new friends. They seemed cool at first but then things started getting weird after that. My girlfriend started wearing different types of clothing, somewhat gothic. She got piercings and tattoos, which is weird because for years I begged her to get one and she was terrified. Then to top it off she started watching porn, taking nude pictures of herself, and became very interested in dark magic. After that I just started to back away because I was afraid of what she would do, or who she is becoming. Now to many people this may seem like harmless changes and behaviors, but now she has become violent, and has fought both her parents, siblings, and started sleeping with other men openly. She is not even hiding it. And it's weird because it is orgies and animal blood, herbs and all kinds of sinister stuff. I told her to express herself, go out and meet new friends, but I did not mean this. At this point I don't know who she is and what she's going to do next. I'm ready to leave but I truly love her from the bottom of my heart. It hurt me so bad to see her go down like this, but to her this is elevation. What do I do, leave or stay?

Hey Brenden baby, first let me say I feel so bad that you are going through this. When you watch someone you really care about destroy themselves but they think they are living their best lives. Well you know how I go. I will tell you my thoughts based on facts, limiting my opinions unless I am trying to get you to see my point of view, So your girlfriend was putting on front I'm sorry to say. She probably was considerate enough to keep you comfortable because you treated her well. She enjoys you, but at the same time she got bored with the same old thing. If someone is comfortable with a person, they will tolerate them as much as they can, then start to show their true side after they feel that they have truly connect in a way that if they do cause a ripple in the relationship, the person is so drawn in that nothing seems to make them want to leave. This is where you both are in the relationship. I won't say that your girlfriend's interests are cool, but this is what she likes to do. Everyone has something that they love to do and sometimes to those looking in, it can seem a bit ridiculous. No matter how old you become, the things we like to do will eventually start to change. We may start to become interested in things to keep us excited, and in this case this is where your girlfriend is right now. She is living for the now. According to you she has crossed all boundaries such as fighting her parents, her siblings, doing dark magic, and having sex and orgies with different unknown people. At this point if she hasn't let you go, she still wants you. She likes the fact that you let her explore and express herself, but truthfully Brenden this is very very disrespectful. True love has boundaries. She is living a life meant for a single person. If you are not engaging in these acts with her or you both came up with some type of agreement to have an excited open relationship, then this is a very unhealthy relationship. There is no way this is love. She will eventually find someone else to connect with that enjoys the same type of stuff and has the same type of behavior.

LET GO BRENDEN NOW! You sound like you are nice, chill and laid back. You do not need her. I know you are probably afraid because you don't know how she would react if you left her, plus now that she is engaging in dark magic yes things can seem a bit creepy leaving you helpless but get you some prayer warriors and have them pray over you for protection as you exit this relationship. Just in case she decides to be spiteful and do witchcraft against you. Trust me some people let their emotions get the best of them and they start to plot and things get out of hand from there. I feel so bad Brenden that you have to go through this because I know you love her, but she doesn't love you. If she disrespect her family, 9 times out of 10, you are next. Do not take this lightly. So my answer to you my friend is GET OUT NOW! You don't deserve a girl with that type of behavior and stuff going on in her life, and with witchcraft you don't know what type of stuff she is doing. You don't know what type of deity she is working with, or has entered her vessel. I pray that this has not occurred yet but when you deal with dark magic it's just a matter of time you start to meet those on the other side. So LET GO! Find someone who loves you and likes the same thing you do.

If you just can't find it in your heart to leave your girlfriend Brenden, then please by all means, pray to God daily for her to leave that lifestyle alone and come back to her senses. Prayer works just believe that this battle is already won. But if she starts to become too dangerous for you to handle, separate yourself from her and still pray from a distance. Sometimes going away helps a person see how much they really need you and love you, and in this case you will know if she loves you because she will return to you better than before leaving all those interests and behaviors behind. Well Brenden I will stop it here. Hope I was able to give you some sound advice to help you work with your girlfriend or leave her completely alone. Let me know what you decide to do okay. Best wishes to you!

Listeners are welcome to comment and respond to this Minute Talk Session and offer more advice or to tell me that I screwed up in response or I did great.
